PRAYER NEWS SEPT-NOV

26/11/11

Praise Points

- Justin is serving faithfully in an Orphanage in the Philippines under GMT.
- Ando Local Church guest house is now completed and is open for Christians around the world to come. We are now hosting an Australian Volunteer who teaches in our local primary school and do sewing and dying workshops off hours.
- Linda is now 6 months pregnant and is healthy. We are expecting our first child comes February 2012.

Prayer points

- Linda and I in the meantime decided to leave aside our plans for Australia while we anticipate the arrival of our child. Prayer for Linda's health.
- Solomon Islands is in another political situation where we have a motion of no confidence resulting in the resignation of the prime minister, the election of a new one in the same week, who is now facing another motion of no confidence after days in office. Pray for us.
- I am really struggling financially. Fuel costs soars resulting in high fares for me to travel to and from town on a regular bases, i.e. SBD$ 40/day 3 days a week. This doesn't include the cost of food and internet expenses. It is so frustrating some times with the thought of a child on the way and how I am to support my family. In spite of these, God is always faithful and with that I am grateful. Please pray for my family concerning finance.

• Linda and I have been part of the local church's plan to build a hall that will also has a room which will serve as a guest room for strangers, visitors and friends. This came about as a result of a church meeting held earlier this year in which I introduce this idea seeing that we are receiving more visitors into our local church compared to other years. This project is now completed after 7 weeks of construction.

- An Ablution block under the same vision is also still under construction but this project came to a halt because of the lack funding. This project will need another SBD$ 10,000. I am seeking your prayer and financial support towards this project.

- I have been taking photos one day and accidentally dropped my digital camera and the Lens is damaged. I really need one for the continuation of my work in the community. Please pray for that.
